

Abstract

A therapeutic composition for a disease caused by a failure in the survival, proliferation and/or differentiation of a cell which contains eosinophil cationic protein and other components; and a medium composition for promoting the survival, proliferation and/or differentiation of a cell.